POLITICAL LINES SADLY SHATTERED

Guesses and Nothing More To be Made as to Probable County Results

MIKESSELL LOOKS A WINNER

Present Sealer Seems to Have Good Lead for Treasurer Nomination—North Charleroi Much Favored for County Commissioners.

Political lines seem so sadly shattered in county politics just now that it is hard for the average voter to tell just exactly where his lands. Factional disturbances are threatened indicating nobody knows what. Hot lights will probably be waged in the nominations for county commissioner, county treasurer and sheriff, among the offices.

Favorites in the county commissioner race would be hard to pick, but it seems that John O. Watson of North Charleroi the "river candidate" has a good lead. T. C. Luel of Beallsville is another strong man. These two look fairly good for the nomination. W. G. Shillita, who is a candidate from the north-western end of the county will have good backing from that section and will cut deeply into the totals.

O. Evans Mikesell, the present sealer of weights and measures having made a personal canvass, has the lead in the treasurer scrap for the Republican nomination for treasurer. The entrance of Charles A. Bentley, the popular Monongahela and C. E. Carothers of Washington, has complicated matters, but it still looks as though Mikesell would pull through without any very great trouble. A. T. Craven of the Seebury Hill region and Frank R. Hamby of Donora are two candidates, whose strength is not to be laughed at.

In the sheriff fight, guesses would be guesses and nothing more. Every candidate in the field for the Republican nomination is a strong candidate and there is in prospect one of the prettiest contests ever staged in county politics. George Hornbake of Coal Centre, F. B. Wickerham of Monongahela, John C. Murphy of Washington and Charles Miller of Beallsville are all favorites.

Isaac W. Baum, James A. Magill, and T. H. W. Fergus, all of Washington, have their hats in the ring as candidates for district attorney, and interesting developments are promised there.

Coroner James T. Heffran is out for re-election and is being opposed by William Greenlee of Bentleyville, William A. Britton, of Washington and Lafayette Culbertson of North Charleroi. Heffran is popular

NEARLY EVERY VOTER IS RUNNING FOR SOMETHING

At Least That is the Way it Seems to Clerk Campbell of County Commissioners' Office.

Judging from the number of blank petitions that the commissioners have sent out, the majority of the voters in the county are candidates for the nomination for some office. Chief Clerk Harry R. Campbell said that so far over 4,000 blank petitions had either been sent out or handed personally to candidates and they were still going out.

August 31 is the last day in which petitions may be filed. Mr. Campbell said that he had been handing out blank petitions like handbills. The commissioner had printed 1,000 pamphlets, setting forth information as to the offices to be filled and other matters. All these are gone. Thomas Hill, commissioner, in connection with his candidacy had 1,000 of these pamphlets printed and these are all used up.

Petitions are piling up in the commissioners' office and it requires much work to carefully scrutinize them, see that they are in proper form in every particular and if not to send them back. A number of petitions have had to be sent back because they were not made out properly. This may prove prejudicial to some candidates, where such petitions came in on the last day.

FAST CARS TO BE AT BELLE VERNON

Speed Demons to Hold Forth In Two Day Meet at Race Track

FAMOUS DRIVERS COMING

Some of the fastest motor driving by several of the most sensational half-mile track racers in the country will be staged at the Belle Vernon track next Friday and Saturday, August 27-28 when the Automobile Racing association holds its two-day meet. Seven big events are scheduled for each day and the card promises to be one of the best ever lined up in western Pennsylvania.

Already several prominent speed demons have entered their cars. Phil Fetterman of Pittsburgh, has entered his big white Simplex. Fetterman is a well known driver, having raced DePalma, Burman, Cooper, Oldfield and many other international drivers in the Elgin Road races, Indianapolis, Chicago, Pittsburg and elsewhere.

Another Pittsburg who will be on the job is T. P. Rose with his powerful 140 h. p. Mercedes. This car is particularly adapted to half mile dirt tracks and Rose fully expects to nail a large slice of the prize money.

G. B. Gardner and his famous Beaver Bullet will be in the races both days. Gardner and his odd-looking blue car need no introduction. It was this car that finished second among the American cars in the 1914 Indianapolis speedway races. Gard-

ALLEGED SLAYER OF DETECTIVE HILTON REMANDED TO JAIL; NO BAIL ALLOWED

Felonious Homicide Charged Against Samuel E.
McPherson, of Monongahela--No Developments in Startling Case Thursday

Samuel E. McPherson, aged 35 years, who it is said killed his step-father, Detective Wallace J. Hilton, at Monongahela, Wednesday evening, was lodged in the Washington county jail Thursday charged with felonious homicide and to be held without bail until he is tried in court.

Deputy Coroner C. J. Yohe of Monongahela Thursday announced the jury that will hear the testimony at the inquest into the killing of one of Washington county's best known and most efficient officers. The jury-men chosen are William Gibson, William Downer, John Frost, Thomas Anderson and Clark Wilson.

It is probable that the inquest will be held within the next week, but such a step cannot be taken until word is received from Allegheny county officials, Hilton having died in the South Side hospital, Pittsburg. The Allegheny county coroner will first have to investigate.

There were no developments in the startling case Thursday. McPherson, who awaited and surrendered to Constable R. L. Tisdall, refused to speak. Miss Blanche McPherson who was in the Hilton home when the tragedy occurred, is equally reticent. It is said that the enmity existing between the two colored men was the outgrowth of quarrelling over board money McPherson is alleged to have owed Hilton.

Detective Hilton was 34 years old and had lived all his life in Monongahela. Besides his wife and the step-children, four brothers and three sisters survive: A. J. and A. L. Hilton, of Monongahela; George and William, who reside in the west; Mrs. Mary Grayson and Miss Leona Hilton of Monongahela and Mrs. Louisa McHenry of Bentleyville. He was a member of the colored Masonic fraternity.

ner has been cleaning up considerable money on the short ovals and will come to the Belle Vernon meet for the purpose of enlarging his bank roll.

Several local cars will likely be entered. To date one from Charleroi has come in. A. D. Spencer will pilot his Buick Wildcat, the car in which he won a race last Saturday in Johnstown. Spencer has rebuilt his motor and cut down the flywheel and as a consequence is getting some remarkable speed out of the car. With the changes he believes that he will give the best of them a good run for their money. Several of the racing cars entered will be housed at Spencer's garage within the next few days.

TRAVELED ON ARABIC ON THEIR TRIP ABOARD

George Newton of Charleroi and His Brother Were Passengers on
"El-Fated Vessel" on Journey

George Newton of McKean avenue, and his brother, Thomas Newton of Chicago, Ill., in July 1914 traveled abroad on the steamer, "Arabic" of the White Star line, which was torpedoed Thursday by a German submarine off Fastnet light. Lives to the number of 48 are believed to have been lost from the sinking of the vessel. A number of Americans were on board and most of them, if not all are believed to have been saved.

WALTER VAUGHN LOCAL SINGER AT THE PALACE

In addition to the three acts of vaudeville being presented at the Palace Theatre this week Manager R. L. Barnhart has secured the services of the well known local singer Walter Vaughn of Fayette City. Mr. Vaughn was tendered a great ovation at the Palace Thursday evening. He is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and is possessed of a wonderful tenor voice of fine dramatic quality. Last evening he sang the two numbers "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and "Mother McCree" which were rendered in excellent manner. His part of the program will be changed both this evening and tomorrow.

DOES NOT OBJECT TO STOCKINGLESS BATHERS

Still District Attorney Miller Does Not Say to "Let Them Go As Far as They Like."

News that stockingless bathing girls have appeared at the Charleroi bathing beach has reached Washington, where some worry has been felt, and a question raised as to whether or not the feminine bathers might not be constrained by law to don more apparel. The Washington News says:

Although the district attorney of Allegheny county where the water nymphs some time ago inaugurated the stockingless costume had no objections, the good citizens of Charleroi did not know how the Washington county district attorney might view the matter.

When a reporter asked the opinion of District Attorney Richard G. Miller on the subject of stockingless girl bathers the attorney was not a bit shocked although he was somewhat surprised. He did not know that the Charleroi girls were doing such a thing.

"I have no objections," he said. "No—I wouldn't say let them go as far as they like—but I don't know of any law which would prohibit their going bathing without stockings."

MANY COAL MINES RESUME THIS WEEK

Coal Production on Increase Shipments to the Lakes Heavy

MANY MEN ARE GIVEN WORK

More than a dozen coal mines in the Pittsburgh district have been speeded up during the past week. Coal production is now said by leading operators to be at a higher rate than at any previous time this year. The shipments to the lakes have increased, the steel trade as a whole is taking a tonnage fully equal to the busiest season of 1913, and the sewer pipe, fine brick and other industries not affected by the European war, have enlarged their consumption so the demand is rapidly approaching a point where the mines will have difficulty in meeting it promptly.

Following the decision of the Pennsylvania railroad to store an extra million tons of coal to provide against a labor shortage at the mines, other leading trunk lines are taking similar precautions. Most of the roads in question are in the Pittsburg field.

Exports of coal from the district, while rare because of the long rail haul to the seaboard, have actually taken place the past few days. While operators say the export trade will never, directly, affect Pittsburg mines, it will benefit them by broadening their home market as the demand from abroad will keep Eastern mines too busy to care for the domestic markets.

According to estimates made this week added to the working forces of the coal mines in the district in two

Fire to His House

LOCAL CASE IS CONTINUED

Charleroi Man Under Accusation of Firing Property Not to be Tried Until August—Other Important Cases Taken Up

The case of W. H. Black of Canonsburg, charged by J. J. Lowers, state fire inspector with arson, was called before Judge R. W. Irwin Thursday morning. Black is charged by two fire insurance companies with setting fire to his house, which is located in Canonsburg in order to collect the insurance. Only two witnesses had been called when court adjourned for noon.

When the case against James Applegate and Lawrence Huber of Fallowfield township, charged with larceny, was called Applegate failed to appear and his bond was declared forfeit. After a short trial the jury found Huber not guilty. They were charged with the larceny of a circular saw, log carrier and other machinery belonging to a saw mill owned by Mrs. Tillie Applegate which was located on the farm of John Gibson in Fallowfield township.

The case against Edgar Waterfield, of Charleroi charged with crimes against morality was called before Judge J. A. McIlvaine Thursday morning. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. David Stewart was the private prosecutor.

Milcenia King of Washington who was found guilty Monday of shooting her husband, William King in the hand was sentenced Thursday by Judge McIlvaine to pay the costs, a fine of $1 and to six months in jail.

The case against Andy Roman and Pate Roman, charged with conspiracy and selling liquor without a license, has been continued until August 26.

When the case against Steve Glada, of Burgettstown, charged with wantonly pointing firearms was called Wednesday afternoon before Judge McIlvaine the private prosecutor failed to appear.

The jury brought in a verdict of guilty Thursday morning in the case against Stanley Stack and Mrs. Stack, against whom there were two charges of assault and battery and one of aggravated assault and battery. Stack was sentenced by Judge Irwin to pay the costs, a fine of $1 and to 60 days in jail while his wife was sentenced to pay the costs and a fine of $25.

The jury found John Vodcheck of Cherry Valley, not guilty Thursday morning of aggravated assault and battery and divided the costs between the prosecutor and the defendant.

The cases against S. A. Lewis, of Charleroi, charged with arson, A. T. Burczyk, charged with embezzlement and Edward Moore charged with aggravated assault and battery have been continued until the November term of court.

Weeks were about 7,500 men all on full time.

NEGLECTED ART OF COOKERY.

Domestic economy is being strenuously preached in England, and there is no country in the world, except our own, where it is more needed. The English are more extravagant in domestic service, but in the waste of good food the two countries have much in common says an exchange. But it has not yet been sufficiently recognized in England that the foundation for the reform demanded is better cookery. In that country culinary art has deteriorated because left to the mercy of untrained cooks.

Women of a class that in other countries is accustomed to deal exactly with the affairs of the household feel it necessary for the sake of gentility to let the servants do everything, which means that things which require some skill and knowledge are apt to be badly done except in great houses where high-priced servants are employed. There are out-of-the-way corners where the old traditions of English cookery are still to be found, but English critics are the first to admit that as compared with continental standards the British kitchen is both inferior and wasteful.

There is sound economy in culinary skill, both in serving food and in getting the most out of the human machine, and patriotic Englishwomen can do much in this field to help their country.

ANOTHER TECHNICALITY

The Wyoming supreme court has granted a stay of execution in a murder case and sent the case up to the United States supreme court on these grounds:

"The defendant was convicted of "killing one Anderson Coffee on or about the 12th day of August, 1913."
The defendant's lawyers, however, discovered that there was a clerical error in the legal "information," which made the date "1913," and on the strength of that accidental slipper the state's highest tribunal granted the stay and made an appeal necessary.

It isn't necessary, of course, to point out to any citizen with a non-legal mind the ridiculousness of such a decision, declares rightly the Punsutowney Spirit. There isn't any question of the fast of the murder being committed, of the completeness of the evidence, or of the proper application of the criminal law to the case. There isn't any question even of fundamental procedure. There is simply the slip of the clerk's pen, or typewriter in a matter which deceived nobody had no practical bearing on the case whatever and wasn't discovered until afterward when the usual microscopic search for a "flaw" brought it to light.

New York and some other states have enacted laws forbidding courts to take such cognizance of errors in procedure "which do not affect the substantial rights of the parties."
Every state ought to do likewise.

At Monongahela a constable was killed in a fight. Now the law will probably step in and punish the one who slaughtered him and the ends of justice will be served in a few days another such killing will occur. The law will step in but the criminal will escape the penalty through some freak misplacement of a comma. Still the ends of justice will be considered served and the glaring inconsistency of a two-faced justice permitted to pass unnoticed.

A man is not necessarily worthy of your confidence because he styles himself a reformer, says the Altoona Tribune. Test him thoroughly before accepting him at his own estimate.

This has been a poor year for bass and amusement enterprises of all sorts excepting the moving picture theatres, proving the tendency of the people after experiencing the late financial depression to save where perhaps they were before inclined to extravagance.

ple make it, city or nation. That ing election.

ple, which was scheduled for the near future, has been referred to committee."

In Chicago they have changed it from "teaching the young" idea how to shoot" to "teaching the young how to swim."

The man with the alleged "ringer" in the Belle Vernon race meet broke the speed records in more ways than one.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"I've been a good boy today, haven't I, mamma," asked the pride of the household.

"Yes, Richard. You've been a very good boy, indeed."

"Aren't you going to call papa up on the phone and tell him about it?"

"Why, no; I hadn't thought of it," replied his mother. "Don't you think it will be time enough to tell him when he comes home?"

"Well," said the youngster, "he might want to buy some candy or something for being good and I thought we might save him the trouble of going out after he gets in the house."

An esteemed citizen visited a country community and while taking dinner at the village inn a heavy thunderstorm began to fall.

"Gee!" remarked the esteemed citizen gazing at the driving rain. "It looks like the flood."

"Like the flood?" wonderingly responded the waitress to whom the remark was addressed.

"Yes," answered the cool guest.
"You have certainly read of the flood and how the boat landed on Mount Ararat?"

"No sir," was the rather surprising answer of the little waitress. "I haven't seen a newspaper for three days."

VALUE OF DOGS IN WARFARE

European Armies All Employ Them, and Testimony Is That They Give Good Service.

While there has been devoted a good deal of attention to the use of dogs in ambulance work, the sentry dog has figured little in dispatches.
The sentry dog was urgently recommended a year or two ago by some of the higher French army officers, but they received no encouragement from the war office. Now the need is acutely felt and a corps is being trained as rapidly as possible. A dog of this kind will invariably give warning of the approach of an enemy long before the soldier sentry is aware of it. In one section of the northern front, where dogs have been used for the past month, no night attack of the Germans has been successful.

Not every dog will make a good enough sentry. They need careful selection and equally careful training. Many animals that are excellent as watch dogs or in guarding their master's property, prove worthless when removed suddenly to a new environment and stationed under a stranger.

The English at present have dogs working with about thirty battalions of their army. The Russians also use them rather extensively on sentry duty.

It is said that the Germans, whenever they enter new towns, make it a rule to collect and train all likely dogs, and to kill all others. Many of their signalmen go out accompanied by dog scouts, who give warning of the approach of the enemy.

IMPRESSIONS OF A HINDU

Learned Eastern Visitor Frankly Confesses That He Is Unable to Understand Americans.

Not seldom I feel among Americans as the Egyptian is said to have felt among the Greeks, that I am moving in a world of prehistoric and inexperienced children, bearing on my own shoulders the weight of the centuries.
Yet it is not exactly that Americans strike one as young in spirit, rather they strike one as undeveloped. It is as though they had never faced life and asked themselves what it is; as though they were so occupied in running that it has never occurred to them to inquire where they started and whither they are going. They seem to be always doing and never experiencing. A dimension of life, one would say, is lacking, and they live in a plane instead of in a solid. That missing dimension I shall call religion.
Not that Americans do not, for aught I know, "believe" as much as or more than Europeans, but they appear neither to believe nor to disbelieve religiously. . . . But even in Europe—and far more in India—there has always been, and still is, a minority who open windows to the stars; and through these windows, in passing, the plain man sometimes looks—Rabindranath Tagore.

Civilization's Peril.

America is closer to the heart of Europe than at any time since England's colonies became independent states. To the most isolated farmhouse it has been known for a half century that we are not remote from the portentous events beyond the sea; that the fate of our brothers over there, in some way which we do not well discern, involves us also. We are, whether we like it or not, full shareholders in the civilization which is imperiled. Our commerce and industry, our prosperity and well-being, our culture and religion, the foundations of our common humanity, and the ideals of our common aspirations, are all at stake—Edward T. Devine in the Survey.

Kicks Chick; Breaks Leg.

A pugnacious Plymouth Rock rooster and a woman's attempt to kick have furnished a case for the doctor.
The rooster belongs to W. E. Coughenour, a dairyman of Dunbar, Pa. It has been creating trouble by chasing children, and Mrs. Coughenour, who takes care of the family henry, made up her mind to give the vicious bird a lesson.

Going out to the flock to give the chickens their morning meal, she was attacked by the rooster. Mrs. Coughenour took careful aim, and delivered a powerful kick, intended to put the bird out of business. She missed, her foot struck a stone, she fell disabled, and a physician found her leg broken.

Why They Were "Bad Company."

A soldier, charged with being drunk and disorderly, mentioned, in extenuation of his offense, the fact that he had been compelled to travel up from camp in very bad company.

"What sort of company?" asked the magistrate.

"A lot of teetotalers!" was the starling response.

"Do you mean to say teetotalers are bad company?" thundered the magistrate. "I think they are the best company for such as you!"

"Beggin' your pardon, sor," answered the prisoner. "Ye're wrong, for I had a bottle of whisky and I had to drink it all meself."

Their Use.

"Why do you advocate manure
-street-paving bills?"

"To cover the beds of the streets, of course."

The Prevailing Rates.

"That writer is expensive, but here's meat in everything he writes."
"Then, no wonder he comes so high."

Luke McLuke Says:

A woman is certain of heaven. But she is always afraid that her nose is shiny.

A man's wife always tells her husband that the man next door always comes home at a decent hour and always behaves himself and always takes his wife with him everywhere he goes. And this is just what the woman next door is telling her husband about the man next door.

When she is single she believes that she pleases all the men. When she gets married she discovers that she can't even please one man.

When they are first married she is surprised if he doesn't kiss her when he gets home. But after awhile she is surprised if he doesn't cuss her when he gets home.

Why is it that most of the things that make life worth living are the very things we are told we must not do?

Any man can talk bossy to his wife when he is out with her. But he has to take it all back when he gets home.

A woman who is too fat gets a lot of comfort out of worrying over how awful it would be if she were too thin.
You can convert cash into experience.
But it is hard to reverse the process.

You can't guess a man's bank account from the way he uses his knife when he is eating.

One half the world wonders how the fellow next door ever raised the price of an automobile.

When a woman isn't indignating about her rights she is indignating about her wrongs.

After a man has busted the trust all morning and spent Rockefeller's money all afternoon and fought the war in Europe all night, he goes home and tells his wife that if women didn't talk so blamed much they would get along better.

What has become of the old fashioned dude who said "eye-ther" when he meant "either?"

Anyway, when a girl has freckles you know that she didn't paint them on.

likewise.
The ordinary family or individual spends money for ex-of the income. And this gives cause for worry and eventually waste of power and stock-in-trade—earning

many of our patrons cannot understand why fur prices are so low

AYMAN and experts agree that it will be years before fur prices will be as low as they are at present. One can buy fine high grade dependable furs for the prices formerly paid for the cheaper furs.

For this reason the better grade of furs will be universally worn the coming season.

These low prices cannot last though—only good as long as the present supply that was purchased at such low prices lasts.

Almost everybody in America that manufactures their own furs like we do bought a large supply of raw skins and the surplus was soon absorbed.

Fur prices are down to an unprecedented low point because of the world's war—the countries at war were not customers this Spring, and the product of a year was suddenly thrown upon the American market, and prices dropped to the lowest in the history of the trade.

What effect these low prices have had upon our business is expressed in the fact that during the first twelve days of August we sold more furs than we have during any August fur sale in the history of our business.

Here you can select your own skins—choose your own models, and from time to time see your coat or fur set in work, as all the better grade of our furs are made right on the premises.

here's fur fashion news:

FOX in white, blue, silver, cross, red and battleship gray, is now in vogue—double furs—lifelike animal scarfs—are best. So great in favor has this shape in Fox become that other fur is being made in imitation of this style—but Fox is Fox, and nothing imitated is like it.

Fox has a distinctiveness that nothing can replace—its fur is long, soft and silky—its paws, head and its tail—all combine to distinguish it as the fur of furs.

FOX being in such high favor it is only a question of a short time until the present supply, bought at war prices, will be exhausted, and, as you must have Fox to be in style, if you do not place your order now, you will undoubtedly have to pay considerable more.

You can make your selection now and your furs will be held in our cold storage vaults until you want them, and arrangements can be made so that you will not receive your bill until November 1st.

AMONG THE THEATRES

Wednesday, "The House Next Door" was a big featuring drama that attracted "big crowds to the Palace. A special Lubin DeLuxe feature was shown Thursday night in "Into the Light," a film that bore another name, "A Little Child Shall Lead Them." Vaudeville acts are of the highest class this week. Fred Roberts, billed as the man with many voices is the headliner, his act being considered one of the finest single acts that has ever been booked at the Palace. Larrein and Grimm have a high class musical novelty act. Harris and Nolan, "those captivating girls" are good entertainers, having a good act.

MAJESTIC-CHARLEROI

The Majestic theatre presents a splendid program this week, beginning on Monday evening with "The Failure," a Mutual masterpiece with John Emerson in the leading role. Also the flood at Erie was pictured as a Monday attraction. A Broadway Star feature, "The Scar" proved an especially interesting film on Tuesday evening, holding the boards with the eighth presentation of "Who Pays?" One of the greatest of all grammas, "The Rosary," with Kathryn Williams in the stellar role was the Wednesday feature that attracted immense crowds to the Majestic and the Thursday bill consisted in a presentation of the 14th chapter of "The Diamond From the Sky." Together with the serial was given that of a Charley Chaplin comedy. Announcement is being made of the coming shortly of "The White Sister" in six parts with America's famous actress, Viola Allen in the leading role.

GAVE UP THE DRUG BUSINESS

Incident That Made Man Decide That the Profession Was Altogether Too Strenuous.

"I got out of the drug business because something happened that nearly turned my hair gray," said the sal-low-complexioned man.

Of course the other men said. "Tell us about it."

"I used to sleep in the store," said the sal-low man obligingly, "and often I had to answer night calls. One night I was awakened from a deep sleep by somebody persistently ringing the door bell."

"I found a small boy at the door, and he handed me a prescription. I was so sleepy that I could hardly see, but I filled the prescription, the boy paid me and hastened away."

"When I went to replace the bottles I had taken from the shelves my eyes were open a little wider than in the opening stages of my wakefulness, and I was horrified to find that instead of taking down the bottle of tincture of orange I had used the next bottle, a deadly poison."

"I flew out of the door and looked up and down the street. The boy had disappeared. I had never seen him before and did not know for whom the medicine was. I wanted to rush off to the doctor and find out who the patient was, but that, I decided, would be useless, as it would be too late to do any good."

"I entered the store and paced up and down the floor. My hair stood on end. I saw my victim in all the agony of acute poisoning. I saw the pale face of death; I saw the family rowing vengeance."

"My heart thumped furiously as I heard hastening footsteps. I peered through the window and saw the boy who had brought the prescription. The bottle was gone. My only hope was shattered. With a trembling hand I opened the door, prepared to hear the worst."

"The lad stood hesitating. Tears were in his eyes. I dared not speak. 'Please, mister,' he stammered. 'I ran so fast I fell and broke the bottle, and I ain't got any more money.'"

"My heart leaped into my throat. I felt like giving a yell of joy as I leaped forward and pulled that boy into the store. I wanted to hug and kiss him. When I had mastered my emotion I gave him another bottle of medicine which I most cheerfully paid for out of my own pocket, and into the bargain I gave him the biggest handful of expensive candy he ever had."

Rifle Range in Palace.

With the permission of the parliamentary authorities, a rifle range has for the first time in its history been established in the palace of Westminster, London. The name of the body under which this step has been taken is the Westminster Palace Rifle club. The range is situated beneath the Royal gallery, where there is accommodation for four targets, and it has been established in the main for the use of the younger officials in both branches of the legislature. It is hoped, however, that the range will also be used by the members of both houses of parliament.

"Her Shattered Idol," with Mae Marsh and Robert Harron in the leading roles. This was a Mutual masterpiece of unusual attractiveness. Tuesday's photoplay that held the board was the piece, "Chimmie Fadden," with Victor Moore in the stellar role. William Faversham and Jane Gray were seen at their best in an unique drama, "The Right of Way" on Wednesday and on Thursday America's sweetheart, Mary Pickford was featured in the Famous Players' film, "Little Pal." Friday's big attraction is "The Scandal." Announcement is being made of the Saturday attraction, "Round on the Wheel."

SOME LIVELY MIX-UP

UNHAPPINESS IN THE HOME OF ELDER BERRY.

According to His Story He "Ondured" Much Before He Got His Mind Made Up to "Git On-married."

"Your wife alleges that you were cruel to her," charged the judge; "that you first insulted her, then knocked her down and trod upon her. How about it?"

"Dis about it," responded Elder Berry, "dis much, an' den some."

"Me an' dat woman been trabbelin' double 'bout 'teben days. I done tuk her to be de wife o' mah buzzum, an' she done stung me in dat buzzum, an' fudehmo'."

"An' ef she done got sawt o' spilled about some as I wuz passin', dat ain' no fault o' mine."

Colonies of Two Nations.

The loss of Brazil brought the Portuguese dominion down from the proud position it held at the beginning of the nineteenth century. But at the beginning of the twentieth century she remained the mistress of a colonial empire surpassed only by Great Britain, France and Germany. The climate of the Portuguese colonies is, however, unsuitable for European colonization, and the colonies have no commercial value commensurate with their great extent. The Portuguese colonies are: In Africa, Cape Verde islands, St. Thomas, Madeira and Prince's islands; Portuguese Guinea, Angola, Portuguese East Africa or Mozambique; in India, Goa, Daman, Diu; in China, Macao; in the Malay archipelago, part of Timor. The total area is 503,000 square miles, of which 794,000 square miles are in Africa.

The Dutch colonies in the Malay archipelago number 600,000 square miles. The West Indian dependencies of Holland are Dutch Guiana or Surinam, the Dutch Antilles or Curacao and its dependencies, comprising, altogether, a total area of 60,000 square miles.

External Use.

English men-of-war have no ice-making machines on board, as do our ships, and everybody knows how the English fail to understand us on the subject of the use of ice, especially in our drinks.

An English officer was aboard one of our ships of the Asiatic fleet and, on being served with an iced drink, commented on the delights of having cool water aboard. The American officer responded with an offer of a small cake of ice, which was sent the following morning. Meeting the Englishman ashore a week later, the American asked him if he had enjoyed the ice.

"Enjoy it, my top? Why, do you know, that was the first cold drink I've had since I left England!"—Everybody's Magazine.

The Joy of Obliviousness.

"How did you like my turning on the gas at ten while you and that young fool were in the parlor last night?" asked her father.

"Did you?" she responded innocently; and father knew the true meaning of the word "failure."—Philadelphia Public Ledger Eckman's Alternative has restored to health many sufferers from lung trouble. Read what it did in this case:

Wilmington, Del. (Associated Press, January 1, 1909, 1910) I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. My physician, a leading practitioner, said that it was lung trouble. I got very weak. G. A. Lippincott, of Lippincott's Department Store, Wilmington, Del., recommended Eckman's Alternative that had done great good. I began taking it at once. and will be a hard man to beat. Dr. A. V. Lewis will get the nomination for prothonotary and Boyd C. Parshal for register of wills.

Rumors have it that factions are being formed among the candidates, and "politics make strange bedfellows." Just what the factions will be is a matter merely for conjecture.

This undoubtedly will be a Republican year. There are about 22,000 enrolled as voters of that party in the county, in opposition to the 6,000 Democrats. Among the higher offices to be filled will be those of representative in congress and county judge. Developments in the congressional battle are anticipated within the next few days. Norman E. Clark of Washington, an attorney in high repute, and Judge R. W. Irwin are after the judicial honors on the non-partisan ballot. Clark has made the best campaign.

Interest centers in the Democratic ticket chiefly in the nomination of candidates for commissioner, since the board has to include two Republicans and one Democrat, or vice versa. Three strong men are candidates for the Democratic nomination. Joe T. S. Cowan of Roscoe the present Democratic commissioner, A. P. Barnum and Dr. T. M. Faddis of Charleroi.

A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

CONVINCING EVIDENCE

If our graduates did not make good—if they were not satisfied with the training we gave them, they would not send their brothers and sisters—yet many families have sent us two or three students.

You can hardly find a business office in this section without finding a Douglas Graduate at work and some firms have as many as 15 Douglas Graduates on their pay roll. If the employers were not satisfied they would not call on us again and again when in need of help.

We base our claims for patronage on merit alone. We offer you a superior training—a training that has stood the test for years—a training that is up-to-date and meets the needs of the modern business man.

Enroll now—We give you individual instruction and a chance to advance as fast as your ability will permit. A few months will fit you for a good position. The time saved will more than pay your tuition, and your increased earning power and prestige as a Douglas Graduate will be a great satisfaction to you. The money spent with us will be the best investment of your life.
